

... and the ACCAN Remote Communities Champion Award goes to: Activ8me!

Activ8me has been awarded The Australian Communications Consumer Action Network (ACCAN) 2019 Remote Communities Champion Award, an accolade that recognises Activ8me's efforts to tackle the unique telecommunications challenges faced by remote Australian communities.

In recognising Activ8me as the Remote Communities Champion, ACCAN highlighted the success and impact of Activ8me's bespoke community phone and public Wi-Fi initiative, which to-date has connected more than 300 very remote Indigenous communities across Australia.

"We'd like to thank ACCAN for recognising our tireless efforts to improve connectivity in the remotest parts of Australia," said Martin Camilleri. "We will continue to work hand-in-hand with remote communities and organisations like ACCAN to improve communications across rural, regional and remote Australia, and in doing so, close the digital divide."

ACCAN is Australia's peak communications consumer organisation. They represent individuals, small businesses and not-for-profit groups as consumers of communications products and services.

Activ8me CEO Martin Camilleri accepted the award at a ceremony held at ACCANect, ACCAN's 10th year anniversary celebration, on Wednesday 11th September at the Aerial UTS Function Centre in Sydney, NSW.
